

C. U. DEFEATS G. W. 13-0—PITT BATTLES PENN STATE TO SCORELESS TIE—MARYLAND WINS STATE TITLE

DENAULT BIG STAR IN CATHOLIC'S WIN

Morsemen Unable to Stop Fleet Quarterback. Hatchettes Make Game Effort in Final Period but Fall Short.

By JACK NYE.
By reason of the winged heels and sure eye of Bobby Denaault, a red-awatered streak of lightning, Catholic University was able to triumph over George Washington University in their battle at the Central stadium yesterday by a score of 13 to 0. It was a game of thrills, with Denaault doing most of the thrilling.

More than 6,000 spectators, who all filled the big stadium, were brought to their feet in the last two minutes of play, when the Catholic quarterback intercepted a forward pass on his own 5-yard line and dashed 95 yards for a touchdown. In the first period he paved the way for the opening score when he snaggled a 20-yard forward pass and was downed on the 1-yard line, from which place Mike Dunn bucked it over.

Rival rooters, banked at each end of the grandstand, staged a noise-making duel that was ear-splitting and surged on the field in snake dances between the halves. So high was the spirit running at this time that there were a couple of near riots. Several George Washington and Catholic men became entangled in front of the Brookland stands until the police brought an end to hostilities.

Rooter's Jaw Broken.
Later another free-for-all was staged in the center of the field when the opposing lines came together. When a Brookland roter smashed the big sign carried by the Hatchettes, there was a general scramble to wreak vengeance on the perpetrator of the crime.

Strenuous efforts of the ever-watchful cops finally separated the battling youths, but not until one had suffered a broken jaw. He was escorted to a nearby hospital for repairs.

With the end of the game Catholic students again invaded the field and escorted Coach Harry Robb and Captain Danny Murphy from the grounds on their shoulders.

Despite the handicap of an early score by the Brooklanders, the George Washington eleven put up a great battle, and appeared to gain strength as the game grew older. In the fourth period they started a drive down the field which carried them from their own 20-yard line to the Catholic 20-yard line. It was here that the forward pass fell into the hands of Denaault, who pranced 95 yards for a touchdown. That sudden reversal, when it looked as if a touchdown was in sight, was a heart-breaker for the Hatchettes.

Many Passes Tried.
Though both elevens showed flashes of form in their rushing attack, there was able to gain consistently by this means and resorted to the forward pass frequently. In this style of game the Brooklanders showed more aptitude, completing six out of thirteen attempts for a total gain of 106 yards. One of their passes led to a touchdown.

George Washington's air attack was less successful, partly because of the inability of their receivers to hold the ball. They tossed the ball twenty times and completed but four for a total of forty-nine yards.

John Loehler's kicking surpassed that of Murphy, while the Brooklanders suffered the loss of more than 100 yards in the kicking game. Catholic's kicking line was better, however, after putting the ball in play on their own 20-yard line, following Loehler's kick over the goal line.

Denaault's First Stunt.
Line plunges by Murphy, Danny Curran and a forward pass, Dunn to Lynch, was good for eighteen yards. More line plunges and a short pass gave the Brooklanders their third consecutive first down. Murphy kicked in the line and added eight more on a quick opening. Dunn hit the line for 5 and Denaault added 2. A forward pass failed, but another fooled the Hatchettes and was carried by Denaault to the 1-yard line. Lynch's line attempts by Dunn to put the ball across the line, but he did it by a narrow margin. Brennan failed to kick the goal.

Curran's 40-yard return of Loehler's punt was one of the opening features of the second period and a few minutes later the little half-back was led off the field with a broken arm. George Washington tried numerous forward passes in an effort to score. One was intercepted by Dunn on his own 10-yard line. Later Loehler tossed one to Dailey for 17 yards, putting the ball on Catholic's 17-yard line. Efforts to push the ball over the goal line, however, and Catholic took the ball on downs. A short punt by Murphy put the Hatchettes again in scoring position.

Final Drive for Navy Comes To End on Riding Hall Tanbark.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 25.—The Army's final drive for the heavy game came to a close this morning, when Denny sent his men through their paces in a signal drill. Frightful weather conditions, which have prevailed here for the past five days, continued today, snow covering the "Plains" this morning. This necessitated sending the men into the big riding hall for their work-out. The going in the tanbark was heavy, and the signal drill lacked speed and smoothness.

The final kicking drill was also hampered through lack of overhead space. In spite of the weather handicap, which has hampered all week, the cadets are cheerful, and followers of the team are hopeful that it will make a good showing on the Polo Grounds Saturday. Army folks concede the Navy some advantage in the line. But it is felt that the West Pointers have a strong back field in Smythe, Lawrence and French. Wilhide is a fair quarterback and a good field general. In the line, the individual players are good, but the team as a whole is not as good as the Navy. The cadets have capable ball-carriers in Richards, Ebersole and Ascher.

Eodde and Warren are also possibilities in whom the cadets have some confidence. The soldiers' line is heavy and aggressive, but lacks the experience which characterizes Navy's forward wall. Ninety men of the football squad which includes all the subs will leave here tomorrow morning over the New York Central road arriving in the metropolis shortly after 9 o'clock. In the party will be Major Philip Hayes, executive for athletics, Head Coach Major Chas. D. Dailey, Coaches Graves, Hammond, Hoce, Trichard, Gorham, McEwen and Jones and Trainer Harry Tutthill. The corps of handlers and attendants headquarters will be established at the Hotel Astor. The team will be taken to the Polo Grounds at 10:15 o'clock for a signal drill and the interim leading up to the game time Saturday will be filled by lounging about with a brisk walk on the program for Saturday morning. The Army will line up against the Navy as follows: Don Storch, left end; Davidson, left tackle; Clark, left guard; Greene, center; Breidster, right guard; Mulligan, right tackle; White, right end; Wilhide (captain), quarterback; Smythe, left halfback; Lawrence, right halfback; French, fullback.

The corps of cadets band and attachment of hospital corps men will leave here for the Polo Grounds on Saturday morning.

COLLEGE PARKERS TRIM HOPKINS, 24-7

Byrd's Proteses Outclass Baltimoreans. Brewer Again Stars—Mackert's Playing Severs Sports Relations of the Two Schools.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 25.—As darkness settled over Homewood Field and the referee's whistle blew ending the game between the University of Maryland and Johns Hopkins, the latter gridders were disgruntled because the whistle had robbed them of another touchdown, but they were not downhearted as they knew that their team had gone up against a superior and better balanced team. Hopkins led 24 to 7, but it gained victory in defeat.

Maryland was the first to come on the field. Leroy Mackert, whose playing Hopkins had protested was at fullback for the visitors. The conquerors of Syracuse seemed to be confident of emerging victorious as they engaged in a light practice before the Hopkins men came out.

Jones, Hopkins Star.
Hopkins had a quartet of stars. Elmer Jones was there with the goods when it came to seeking the line, and the former City star was a bear on the defense. Mackert did not come anywhere near equalling Brewer's kicking, but the tall fullback was a good ground gainer. The defensive stars. It is true that in the second quarter Ed was guilty of roughing and tackling a man this unintentionally. Hopkins was penalized half the distance to the goal line for this, and State was on point it scored its second touchdown.

Hopkins started out in a fashion that soon had Maryland fighting upon the field for a touchdown. Jones ran up Mackert's kick 15 yards. Mackert, who had been through for a first down. At this point State held and Hopkins was soon forced to kick.

State Gets Regala.
The manner in which Maryland scored its first touchdown was rather peculiar. Brewer punted from the 20-yard line, the ball hitting Jones on the head and bouncing where Clarke recovered it for State. Semler gained two yards through center and Mackert three through left tackle. On the next play Mackert fumbled and Ed Wood recovered for Hopkins. How- ever Mackert fumbled on the very next play. Groves recovered the pigskin on Hopkins' 20-yard line. Brewer gained two yards through left end on a double pass, Mackert went through center for three yards and a first down. Brewer made five yards through left tackle, placing the ball on the Black and Blue 5-yard line. Hopkins held on the next play. A pretty and unexpected forward pass, Mackert to Semler to touchdown.

The visitors scored in the latter part of the half. Brewer ran Mackert's punt back to Hopkins' 32-yard line. The Black and Blue was penalized half the distance to the goal posts for unnecessary roughness by Ed Wood. Brewer went around left end for five yards.

The Maryland interference then tore a big gap in the Hopkins line and Mackert just walked across the 5 yards for a touchdown.

Brewer Gets Drop Kick.
Brewer dropped a field goal from the 25-yard line in the third quarter. Semler's fumble shortly afterwards placed Hopkins in a position where it scored its lone touchdown. Mackert punted, Brewer catching the pigskin on his 25-yard line. Semler fumbled and Morgan recovered on State's 5-yard line. Jones went through for a 1-yard gain and then Eric Cassell went over for a touchdown.

In the final period, Dutch Plasmann, the ex-Poly star, picked up a Hopkins fumble and ran 30 yards for a touchdown.

State College and Hopkins will break athletic relations as result of Mackert appearing in State's line-up. Line-up and summary:
